

MANSO

de VELASCO®

CURICO VALLEY

ORIGIN

A tribute to Manso de Velasco, Governor of Chile during the colonial period. A brave, enterprising man, known for his strength on the battlefield, and founder of the city of Curicó, where these vines grow. This wine is made using only grapes from vines that are over 115 years old.

CLIMATOLOGY

The 2012 harvest was very extreme, marked by high temperatures and drought throughout the growing season. The climatic conditions made a difference from the start, and preventing the vines from suffering water stress was more challenging than in other years. Due to these circumstances, picking started on April 22nd, a week earlier than the year previous.

SOIL

The soil has a loamy/sandy texture with a high percentage of different sized pebbles, indicating that surface water once flowed very close by. It has a moderately acidic pH with low organic matter content, making it soil with low fertility.

In the deep, slightly rocky and sandy soils, the hundred-year-old Cabernet Sauvignon vinestocks produce limited quantities of grapes that show the typical characteristics of the variety.
